FORMERLY THE PIOCHE WEEKLY RECORD.
PIOCHE, NEVADA, FRIDAY, JULY 13, 1900.

NO. 3.

DELAMAR DOTS.

The town is still rebuilding.

Jack Corkish, the man injured by a blast some days ago in the April Fool is doing nicely.

The new floor in the Vietti hall is something grand, and the old place has awakened from its slumber.

Miss Annie Clinton and little Lena Kelley returned to Pioche Sunday after spending the fourth at DeLamar.

Mrs. F. P. Swindler and children left last week for Salt Lake and the east on a visit for a few months during the hot weather.

Mr. Hobbs, well and favorably known at DeLamar died at the Hospital Friday night of Pneumonia. He had been employed as blacksmith at the DeLamar for some time past.

The family of Supt. James Healy arrived during the week. Mrs. Healy and family are not strangers at DeLamar, and they will be welcomed by their old friends here.

One of the events of last week was the horse race between Spiro Dockleitch's and Geo. Fetterman's. Neither of the horses were fast nor were they good trim. The purse $200 as being $100 on a side, some side bets were made but the horses being unknown the boys were reluctant. Spiro's horse won easily, but no doubt it was on account of the distance and it is conceded that Fetterman's horse would win out on 300 yards. We may look for another race between the same parties and a less distance and larger purse.

THE FOURTH AT DELAMAR.

When the light began to come up in the east the people of DeLamar awakened from their slumber by the sweet strains of the National airs played by the DeLamar Brass Band began to realize that the fourth was upon them and the event promised to be one of the most enthusiastic celebration ever held in DeLamar.

National salutes of powder were fired from the adjacent mountains.

At 10 o'clock sharp the people began gathering at the Vietti Hall which had been decorated very nicely by the committee and the whole town was resplendent with the National colors.

Promptly at 11 o'clock J. A. Denton, chairman made a few opening remarks, and after a prayer by Rev. Darnelle the program was carried out in grand order as follows:

Sang "My Country 'Tis of Thee" by the children under the able leadership of Mrs. McDonald.

Mr. Jim Nesbitt read the Declaration of Independence in good form.

Miss Lillie Ahern and Little Lena Kelley recited beautifully.

Rev. Benj. Darnelle as orator of the day was the crowning feature, he traced in an easy and original manner the history of our country from the landing of Columbus to the present day, making some wise and thoughtful comments on the present and probable future of the country.

The exercises closed by a song "Hail Columbia" by the children.

During the afternoon games were indulged in by all and a dance given for the children in the hall, which was crowded until evening.

At 7 o'clock a horse race on the street amused the people, and later a Grand Ball at the Vietti hall, which lasted well into the morning of the 5th closed the celebration.

It was one of the most enjoyable fourths ever held at DeLamar, and made so perhaps because it was an impromptu affair and everyone took interest to make the event a success.

Nome city, the mecca of the gold seekers, is under martial law and United States Soldiers, under Gen. Randall is now in control of the city. There are 30,000 men in the Alaskan city. Many unable to find employment. Necessity for the proclamation many acts of lawlessness. Smallpox and typhoid fever prevail.

A report from San Francisco says: Unrestricted divorce has brought things to such a pass that there are women in San Francisco who do not even know their own husbands. One of these ladies actually summoned a the police because she found a strange man in her bed. And the man was her husband, too.

Curious Legend of Adam and Eve.

The Danish legend of the fall of our first parents and the exclusion from the Garden of Eden presents features that are unique.

According to Haneik Pontafedau the story of the old Adam is as follows:

It was a warm midsummer day in Paradise; among majestic ferns and over moss-covered stones a babbling brook hurries on. In the shadow of a gigantic banana tree sits Adam, cracking nuts.

He dreams that the Lord comes to him and cuts into his side. With a cry of pain he awakes and sits up, while he endeavors to wipe the slumber from his eyes. The Lord really stands before him.

There is some one else, too, for timidly clinging to the Lord there stands another form, which Adam has never seen before. It is a woman, whose white skin, soft, rosy cheeks and long dark hair cause him to stare with wide-open eyes and quickened breath. He wants to spring up. But the Lord gently restrains him.

"Adam," He says, "I gave thee a beautiful garden, wherein to dwell fruit to eat in plenty, and all the forest of field and breast for joy and company. But thine heart hungered and thou hast disobeyed. See, there fore, I took from thy side, whilst thou slept, a rib and created the woman who now stands before thee, that she should be a helpmate to you. Adam, see! This is Eve! Share thy life with her, as it is desirable and agreeable to thy father."

So saying, he leaves them.

When the shadows grow longer among the palms, the Lord makes his appearance.

When he has reached the end of the lofty palm, forests, where the land gently slopes toward the swan lake and the lily groves, he put his hands to his mouth and, with thundering voice calls: "Adam, where art thou?"

Adam throws himself at the Lord's feet and stammers:

Oh, Lord! Take all my ribs and make them wives for me!

The Creator frowns grow dark. He ordered Adam from his presence and turns away.

"Take you sword," the Lord commands the winged cherub.

"Do you see yonder man and his mate? Drive them away from my garden, that they may perish in the desert!"

Court Defines Mining Land.

The Supreme Court has given a definition of what is mining ground. The California Lustral Company was organized for the purpose of placing a point upon the market, the works being on land beyond Oakland, upon which was a deposit of clay, which was put through a process and turned into dry paint. The business was a failure. J. J. Johnson held a mortgage of $5,238 against the land and the contention was that the land was not to be considered held under the mining laws, but that the procedure should be under the agricultural laws.

The lower court granted the decree, and found that the land could not be considered mining land, for the working has been shown to be done at a loss. The Supreme Court differs from the lower court and reverses the judgment, holding that it is immaterial as to the profit that may be derived from the process of mining.

At Elko last week Judge Talbot sentenced Frank Davis to one year in the penitentiary for housebreaking. Alfred Durrant and James P. Lee were sentenced to 18 months each in the penitentiary.

In our last issue we had in the Quarterly statement of the Auditor and Treasurer $3417.48 as the amount in the General county fund. It should have been $1417.48.

Alex Harrison, the old colored man who in early days blacked boots in Pioche and at Silver Reef, recently died in Salt Lake city, aged 72 years.

The war department orders another regiment of infantry and Reilly's artillery from Manila to China.

Mrs. W. D. Frewitt presented her husband with a bouncing boy on the 8th of July, at State Line.

The tug of war between twelve women and eight men and at Yerington, Lyon county, on the Fourth, was won by the women.

Dr. J. D. Campbell was called to Eagle Valley Monday to attend Will Hollinger who was taken suddenly ill.

Mr. Craig drummer for Kahn Bros wholesale grocery house, Salt Lake city interviewed our citizens on Wednesday.

Born—Wednesday morning, to the wife of Frank Varner, a boy.

Whether—when?

Ed. W. Clark of Uvada made us a pleasant visit during the week.

Legations were reported safe at Peking July 6th.
